The New York weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Loans, increase...... 2,464,900 Deposits, increase...... 896,800 Circulation, decrease...... 4,700

The banks now hold $66,718,650 in excess of legal requirements.

The total, sales of stocks were 161,420 shares, including: American Tobacco, 2,000; American Cotton Oil, 2,200; American Sugar, 5,900; Burlington, 4,800; Chesapeake & Ohio, 4,600; Distilling, 89,200; Louisville & Nashville, 2,600; Reading, 8,800; Rock Island, 2,300; St. Paul, 700. With the exception of a brief period of firmness at the opening of business and in the fina! trading, speculation on the New York Stock Exchange Saturday was heavy in tore and the transactions resulted in the establishment of a lower range of values, extending from 1/4 to 31/4 per cent., the latter in Distilling. The chief interest of the market was centered in Distilling, the sales of which were very heavy. There was good buying in the stock in the early dealings and an advance of 11/2 per cent. was recorded in the belief that the $5,000,-600 loan had been effected. A dispatch from Chicago, however, threw doubt on this point by announcing that the Illinois Trust Company, which was to be the medium of the payment of the money to take the trust whisky out of bond, had not received the funds. As the sequel proved, this was but part of the inside clique's plan to work the market, and the scheme worked very successfully, heavy blocks of the stock being thrown on the market and some stop orders being uncovered, the price breaking 1% per cent. to 19%. Considerable stock had been absorbed by the clique all the way down, and at the lower flugres outside buyers came into the market whose nurchases caused a recovery of 14, but the trading in the stock was feverish and a subsequent reaction of 1 per cent. took place with a final rally of 1/4 per cent., the last price being 31/4 below Friday's closing figures. After the close of business the street was informed that the company had secured a loan of between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000, and that the Illinois Trust Company had taken possession of whisky in bond at Peoria and Pekin valued at $6,-000,000. This removes an unsettling influence in the market and will tend to the establishment of a healthier market. The heaviness of the general list was generally due to the depression of the leader in the trading, though some of the railway reports received were somewhat unfavorable. The changes on the week are nearly all in the direction of higher values, the more important advances being: Burlington & Quincy, St. Paul & Duluth, Oregon Navigation, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Chica-United States Cordage preferred and Tobacco preferred, 6 per cent.; Tobacco common, 7; Michigan Central, 214; New York, Chicago & St. Louis, 23; New New York, Chicago & St. Louis, 2%; New York, Chicago & St. Louis first preferred, 6; Lake Erie & Western, 2½; Lake Erie & Western preferred, 3½; Louisville & New Albany, 2½; Sugar, 2%; Sugar preferred, 1½; Cotton Oil, 3½; Cotton Oil preferred, 3; Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred, 3½; United States Leather preferred and Rubber, 4½; Rubber preferred, 5; Lead preferred, 4½; Lake Shore, ½; Consolidated Gas, 5½; Pullman, 7, and National Starch seconds preferred, 10 per cent.

WEEKLY EIN	A STATE A	DE	TELESTS.	9

Henry Clews, in his review of the operations of Wall street, last week, says: "The past week has afforded a fair specimen of the sort of effects the end of the tariff suspense has in store for Wall street. The feeling is that of universal relief from universal obstruction. The way has been opened to a resumption of trade and enterprise in every direction; and in all interests there is a disposition to resume operations on something aprpoaching a normal scale. There are no longer any great fears nor any reasons for timidity overhanging the markets. In every branch of trade stocks of merchandise are in a starved condition; and the reasons which have for fifteen months caused buyers to pursue a policy of hand-to-mouth supply are disappearing. As a rule prices of merchandise are unprecedentedly low, so that if the purchasing ability of consumers has been lessened that difficulty is offset by a proportionate reduction in the costs of living and in the amount of outlays at large, Credits, as a rule, are in a sound and wholesome condition; so that the merchant who desires to enlarge his stock and extend his trade can have the needful time facilities, and at exceptionally low rates of

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

"These conditions certainly lay the basis for a sound and healthy revival of business. There is in the intrinsic state of affairs little to suggest misgivings as to the future; there is, on the contrary, much calculated to establish confidence in a continuous, steady, stable and conservative course of trade. The country has learned some serious lessons, and therefore is disposed to be sober, but it is also very hun-gry for more trade and better profits, and is therefore disposed to turn to active account every chance for improving both. For the last four years the perception of a coming change in our tariff policy has had a more repressing effect upon enterprise than is generally supposed; and the fact that that change has at last come, with little prospect of its being much disturbed for some years to come, prepares the way for many long-postponed undertakings. The fact of the common cheapness of materials and of the quite general reduction of wages has a very direct tendency to invite revival in certain important branches of trade, especially those connected with building, machine plant, public improvements and railroads. How far the reduced materials from duty may enable us to increase our export trade remains to be seen; in the meantime, however, it is a hopefully significant fact that last year's reduction in values was attended by an in-crease in our exports of $38,000,000, as compared with the year 1892-3.

The recovery that now seems to be setting in is something broader than a revival from the effects of last year's panic. That crisis, though immediately incident to the great silver fight, embraced also the effects of the deeper derangements that set in with the great Barings suspension, and of which that failure was but a symptom. Those derangements were largely in the nature of overproduction, overspeculation, overtrading, and were worldwide in their influence, and their effects still continue in the persistent depression of trade in every European nation. If the recovery from these four years of reaction first makes its appearance in the United States it is nothing more than might be expected from the great resiliency of our resources and from the fact that we have been less intimately connected with the disturbing causes than have other countries. It is reasonable to hope, however, that recovery on this side of the Atlantic will tend to stimulate improvement on the other side, and thus it may quite possibly happen that the foreign markets, both commercial and financial, will respond to the improving tendency in our own. 'The foregoing are the sort of conditions and prospects that are looming up to the vision of Wall-street observers, and it cannot be questioned that they are producing a very decided impression upon the confidence and expectations of investors and speculative operators. The bears have retired into their lairs, and buying has extended beyond the industrial stocks to which it has been so largely confined, and has become general on the railroad list. From the number of new buyers that are appearing it seems likely that the recovery may run into a considerable and sustained advance in prices, even beyond that which has been already realized. There is a large amount of idle funds lying around in all directions, for which the owners have not yet found permanent sources of employment; and this capital is now coming into the market for transient investment in securities which are considered good for a rise. This is a solid source of support for the new tendency; and it seems likely to be continued for some time-the more so because the interest obtainable in other ways still continues unsatisfactory. Under these circumstances we cannot hesitate to commend the market to our friends as one favorable for buying on all pronounced re-

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE. A Week of Disappointing Trade, with

Unsettled Prices. On the wholesale streets and on Commission row more complaint was heard of dull trade the last week than in any week in months. This is attributed largely to the unusually continued warm weather. Stocks of retail merchants are low, money is seldom in better supply, and in the country which buys its goods on this market many of the manufactories are resuming operations on a limited scale, which should naturally help trade. Following the dull trade in many lines prices have been weak and unsettled. Especially is this true of fruits and vegetables, melons, apples, tomatoes, cabbage and like articles. Eggs are 2 cents higher than a week ago. Poultry is the same, but firmer. In the grocery line sugars are in strong position and sharp advances in the near future will not be a surprise. Leather dealers say they are having the best trade in a long time. The hide market is active.

is an active movement and prices are firm at the revision of Friday. The local grain market the past week has been less active. While transactions have been more numerous than before the recent excitement in cereals, by no means is there as much doing as three weeks ago. In bidding more caution is noticeable and most sales are to meet immediate requirements. The week closed with track bids ruling as follows:

The "Tall Sycamore's" Cure. Senator Voorhees is again on duty in the Senate after an absence of nearly four weeks, forced upon him by sickness. His recovery is attributed exclusively to the good effects of the new tariff. Had the Senate and House remained in deadlock, or had the bill failed of passage, there is no doubt in the minds of Senator Voorhees's friends that he would still be confined in the sick-room. The Senator is profuse in his recommendation of the tariff cure. His photograph and letter of acknowledgment will soon appear in all advertisements of

CROP - DAMAGE NEWS AGAIN WORKED BY THE CHICAGO BULLS.

Corn Led in the Advance, Gaining 7-Se for September - Provisions Closed About Unchanged.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 .- The bulls in wheat and corn again took courage to-day and the grain markets closed firm. The crop damage scare was a prominent factor in corn and this and other bullish news helped wheat. Corn closed with a gain of %c for September; wheat finished %c higher for December, and September oats are %c higher. Provisions closed with but little Wheat opened firm in the face of much discouragement in the matter of receipts, present and prospective, on the firm tone of the Liverpool market and the numbers of letters received by the commission houses from country correspondents relating the very general and increasing use of wheat for feed. December started with buyers at 57%c, being the price asked for it as the market was closing yesterday. Some brought 571/2c, and it then became too plentiful and sagged to 5714 057%c. It firmed up again and about an hour from the start it was again wanted at 571/2c. The exports from the Atlantic sea-board for the twenty-four hours amounted, in wheat and flour, to over 580,000 bushels and that was the cause of a rally in the price to 57%c, and maintained it for a long time at 571/2c. The recovered tone of the corn market and the sharp bulge in the price of that article near the close caused the local shorts in wheat a good deal of uneasiness and they, in their atarm, bought so vigorously that the market rose to 57%c for December, and closed at 57%c.

The corn market recovered the bullishness which it lost yesterday. There was an absence of rain in the greater part of the corn belt, which appeared to encourage some more buying on country account. Some local shorts also helped by their purchase the advance in prices which occurred. The receipt of only 224 carloads this morning in place of 350, as estimated yesterday, gave uneasiness to a few who had the temerity on the day before to sell some shorts. Boyden & Co. bought some September early, and Condon was buying with a good deal of confidence near close. There was a good advance immediately at the opening, the nervousness of those who had September shorts to cover quickly spreading into the May dealings. The market was rather inactive in the middle of the short session, but it became quite animated near the close, and it was strong at the same time. September opened at 544c, rose irregularly to 554c, and closed at 55c bid. May started at 5212c, with a sale or two at 52%c. It advanced to 53c and closed at 52%c. Oats ranged narrowly. Corn continued to govern, but the sympathy did not extend as far as it has heretofore. September closed at 304c, after having sold at 300 301/sc. May ranged from 35c to 351/4c, closing at the high price The provision trade was not very active, and the tendency of prices was generally downward until near the close, when the bulge in wheat and corn caused a rally and sold what January stuff was wanted by speculators. Pork for January closed unchanged. Lard was firm, but very inactive, making a gain of from .021/ge to .05e for the day. January ribs left off at .021/2c

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.-The quiet usual to Saturday was reflected in moderate demand of agents, still large sales were reached through mail and telegram orders for pressing requirements. Jobbers were more active than on the same day of the week not many months ago, and the outlook was increasing favorably. All cotton goods were steady to firm and for some of the more staple style prices are slightly dearer, because of demand in excess of the supply. Business for the week has been more legitimately active and of larger volume than for any week since May, 1893. Printing cloths firm at 2%c.

DR. HOLMES'S PERSONALITY. As His Bodily Powers Fail His Mentality Grows More Intense.

Lilian Whiting, in Chicago Inter Ocean. Far other words are needed to characterize Dr. Holmes. He has the most electric personality, recognizing with the lightning swiftness of intuition the keynote to any scale of elective affinities. He is not so much magnetic as magnetism impersonated. He is so much more alive than other people-if I may so express it. It is no wonder he lives long. There is very little of him to die. For the most part he is an immortal spirit now and here.

One very marked attribute of Dr. Holmes is his searching and intelligent interest in the occult and in all physical phenomena. Of course his readers know that he struck the keynote of this in his early life in his romance of "Elsie Venner" and in the very remarkable psychological analysis presented in the "Guardian Angel." one can read that novel without gaining at once an altogether clearer comprenension of human life. Dr. Holmes often talks of "brain waves," as he calls thought transferrence. At a club dinner in London be said to the Bishop of Gloucester and Mr. Haweis: "I think we are all unconsciously conscious of each other's brain waves at times; the fact is words, and even signs, are a very poor sort of language compared with the direct telegraphy between souls. The mistake we make is to suppose that the soul is circumscribed and imprisoned by the body. Now the truth is I believe I extend a good way outside my body; well, I should say at least three or four feet all around, and so do you, and it is our extensions that meet. Before words pass, or we shake hands, our souls have exchanged impressions and they never lie." Some three years ago in a newspaper letter I narrated a curious incident of Dr. Holmes's experience in psychical phenomena. that he had then just told to me one afternoon when I was privileged to sit with him in his own library. It is hardly in journalistic ethics to repeat the same story that one night, sitting at the tea table with his family and friends at the summer home at Beverly, he suddenly began telling them, apropos to nothing, of a singular tragedy that had taken place a half century or so before, and on leaving the table he found in the evening mail which the postman had left, a paper sent him by a friend in England, in which this old tragedy was rehashed, and the friend, knowing Dr. Holmes's interest in it, had mailed him the paper. Dr. Holmes accounted for this on the theory of brain waves, or of spirit presence, the spirit reading the paper and conveying the impression to him being one of his hypotheses. Curiously, this little story was translated into a German paper in Berlin, as Miss Sarah Holland Adams, of Boston, then in Berlin, chanced to tell me last winter.

The central fact in the universe to Dr. Holmes is life itself; the phenomena of existence as considered in the spiritual development and evolution of the individual. From this central fact radiates his interest in literature, science, affairs; but it is as the explanation and the expression of human life that they fascinate him. Of late he seems to be watching himself carefully, as if to scrutinize the process by which his advancing life here is to be transformed into the spiritual life. That his mind is as clear as ever is shown by his letter to the Bryant centenary, conveying his regrets that he was unable to be present, and giving some interesting reminiscences of the elder poet.

An Eye to Business.

Washington Post. A clerk in the War Department went out to look for lodgings the other day, and called at a nice-looking house on Eleventh street, in the window of which was a placard, "Rooms for Rent." The landlady showed him a large, front room, the rental for which, she stated, was $16 a month. "That is more than I can afford to pay," said the clerk. "Well," responded the landlady, apologetically, "would you object to occupying a room in which a lady had died?"

"No," replied the clerk, "I guess not. What caused the death?" "Consumption." "That is not a contagious disease. How long since the lady died? "Why, she isn't dead yet, but it is only a question of a few days. Can't I engage the room to you?"

Horrible Indecision. Cincinnati Tribune. "Yuh hev heard, suh, of the infernal jackass who couldn't make up his mind which haystack he wanted," remarked the Colonel, cocking his feet upon the table.

Well, suh, I never appreciated the unfortunate animal's feelings till last week, "How was that, Colonel?" "I had to make my choice between goin' to a horse race and a lynching, suh."

But Does It "Enjoy?"

The present Congress seems to be enjoying the privilege of reading its own obituary in all the papers.
